

Abstract

catheter ablation of supraventricular tachycardia is a very good option for management of patients with drug resistant SVT in both young and old patients and the success rate was very high almost with no complications and very low recurrence rate in the elderly and no recurrence in the young during the 6 month followup .

key words:

(Catheter ablation-drug resistant SVT )